Fifth Grade Wins Attendance Prize At P.T.A. Meeting

Members of Mrs. Marion Plumm's high fifth grade won the attendance prize at the Grammar School P. T. A. meeting Tuesday because that grade was represented by the largest percentage of mothers. A canary, donated by Mrs. William Lloyd, was presented to the class, in addition to the monetary prize which it earned.

Mrs. Harry Reddiker, president, took charge of the regular business meeting. It was reported that over $48 had been earned by a recent paper drive for the school lunch fund. Prize winners in the drive were: Miss Hancie Naylor's class and Miss Mary Fablinger's class, first and second prize winners for the upper grades; and Miss Edythe Bell's class and Mrs. Mabel Davidson's class for the lower grades.

Mrs. A. C. Gerard, school nurse, reported an encouraging gain in weight among the children.

Mrs. Stanley B. Smith was chairman of the afternoon's program.

Mrs. Charlotte Rideout, who had promised to speak to the members on children's books, was unaccountably absent and Mrs. Lilian Voge, local librarian, delivered a talk on reading after very short notice. Her cooperation and helpfulness was much appreciated by the mothers.

A collection of recent and worthwhile children's books was exhibited to the members of the P. T. A., through the kindness of the Santa Clara county library and the aid of Miss Gladys Merriman.

Refreshments were served Tuesday by representatives of Miss Fablinger's and Miss Naylor's eighth grade classes.

The next meeting of the club will be held Dec. 6 and the seventh grade classes of Mrs. Ruth Stuart and John Paviso will serve refreshments.

Mrs. E. Eddlemon, Mrs. J. G. Burns Entertain Club

Mrs. Earl Eddlemon and Mrs. James G. Burns entertained members of the Ada Rebekah Stitching club in the Eddlemon home on Campbell avenue last Thursday afternoon. Sewing occupied the club members during the afternoon.

Appropriate Hallowe'en decorations and refreshments of orange, black, and green added a festive note to the meeting. A centerpiece of a pumpkin bowl filled with fruits, and orange candles in miniature pumpkins graced each of the two refreshment tables.

Guests of Mrs. Eddlemon and Mrs. Burns were the Mesdames Emma Main, Thomas Phillips, Al Bulmore, Julius Bachman, Donald McQueen, Horace Lea, Lillian Ohlen, Josephine LaBarbara, W. R. Coupland, Mary Brown, J. F. Wehmeyer,Harry Silver, Robert LaRocco, T. A. Robinson, P. B. Payne, A. B. Covey, Percy Dunlap, and Ada Williams, and Miss Lois Rice.

Local Realtor Dislikes No. 3

Warning that the borrowing power on real estate, both city and agricultural, would be further crippled should proposition No. 3 be carried at the general election Nov. 8, G. E. Farley, local real estate agent, urges careful study of the measure.

"The initiative does not affect any mortgage or trust deed now in force," said Mr. Farley. "If anyone thinks he can get any present aid from its provisions he is sadly mistaken. But it will effectually force lenders of money to reduce the amount loaned, thus forcing down realty values.

"There seems to be a selfish motive back of the move, as the initiative would require, if foreclosure became necessary, that all instruments be taken to court, involving lawyers' fees, court and other costs.

"It is claimed that the measure would give a long time of redemption to the borrower in case of foreclosure. This is not so, as under its provisions the borrower actually might be thrown into the street within 30 days. The initiative makes it mandatory for the court to fix a rental value of the property, and if he holds his property the borrower has to pay rent. If he cannot pay interest on the loan, how can he pay rent? The right of redemption means little to the borrower if he is thrown out of possession. The right to redeem without the right of possession, has no practical value. This could easily be employed as a means of oppression. The borrower's only hope would be to turn around and hire a lawyer. He could hardly do this if he does not have money enough to pay either interest or rent.

"My belief is that this is a detard real estate development. There is no excuse for its passage. I am against it, and I will fight it vigorously," he concluded.

LOCAL BASEBALL NINE SECOND IN VALLEY LEAGUE

The Campbell team played an excellent game of baseball at the local diamond Sunday afternoon when they nosed out the Garden City nine in a ten-inning tussle. A big crowd of vociferous fans witnessed the fray in which Campbell won 5-4. The score was tied in the ninth inning, with the winning run in the tenth a homer by Van Dusen who pasted one past center.

Evelyn Smith, C. Schumacher Married Friday

Miss Evelyn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bradley Smith, was married to Clarence William Schumacher of Yosemite, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Schumacher of Ethan, South Dakota, in a beautiful home ceremony Friday night. The Rev. C. E. Irons officiated.

The young couple were married under an attractive arch of large and small chrysanthemums.

The charming bride wore a graceful wedding gown of heavy white crepe with a large cape collar of lace. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and ferns.

Mrs. Clayton Willis (nee Louise Smith), who attended her sister as matron of honor, was dressed in pale yellow chiffon which harmonized with her bouquet of Transvaal daisies.

The bride was given away by her father, Walter Smith. Philip Barlow of Merced, friend of the groom, acted as best man.

Clayton Willis played the preliminary music, giving "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly," before he began the dignified strains of the wedding march.

After the wedding Mrs. Walter B. Smith entertained the friends and relatives of the bride and groom at a reception. A buffet supper was served.

The bridal couple left Friday night for a honeymoon to be spent motoring along the coast and in the north. They will be at home in Yosemite after the middle of the month.

CAMPBELL GOES OVER TOP $300 IN CHEST CAMPAIGN

Campbell, the only community in Santa Clara county to reach its quota, went over the top on its Community Chest drive with a surplus fund of $300. This splendid showing was due to the generosity of local citizens who felt themselves able to give help to their less fortunate townsmen.

Of the $2400 collected, $700 will be sent to the county funds and the remainder will probably be available for local use.

Roy G. Archibald, president of the local council, Guy E. Farley, vice president, and W. R. Coupland, campaign manager, wish to thank the workers and contributors of the drive for the splendid cooperation.

Influenza Closes Local High School; 70 Pupils Absent

The Campbell Union high school closed its doors Wednesday afternoon and students will not report again until Monday morning. With an absence of more than 70 students out of 350, this action was advised by the local health authorities. The two days missed will have to be made up during the remainder of the school term. Light attacks of influenza have caused this forced vacation.

Members of the high school faculty who are ill are D. H. Cramer, principal, and Miss Muriel Carson.

Although 115 pupils out of the 700 in the grammar school are absent, the school will remain open until the attendance is again checked on Monday. At that time a decision will be made as to whether or not closing is a necessity.

The dignified occasion was beautified by decorations of banks of pastel flowers and giant chrysanthemums. The banquet, which followed the ceremony, was held in a hall gay with Hallowe'en touches.

Mrs. Irene Carter of Cupertino, district deputy president, was a guest of honor Tuesday night. A large number of visitors were present.

Proposition No. 3
wears a false face!

Masquerading as "relief," as "remedial," as "beneficial" it is not what it seems.

Vote NO

It is not designed to give relief to any one, but to convert every foreclosure into a law suit.

It will increase deficiency judgments by making them automatic if sale bid does not cover all charges including attorneys' fees.

The pretended protection of the right to redeem is destroyed by compelling the owner to pay rent or be dispossessed in the event of foreclosure.

It will increase foreclosures by making renewals and new loans difficult and costly.

The rights of borrower and lender will be clouded by the many confusing provisions of the measure.

THE MYTH OF RETALIATION

Beginning with his speech of acceptance, the Democratic candidate for president has continued to assert, whenever he has found occasion to refer to the subject of the tariff, that the Hawley-Smoot law was so unfair to foreign nations as to excite retaliation on their part, with the result of "destroying our foreign trade." Other Democratic leaders have been singing the same tune, and have asserted that in the two years since the present law was enacted 100 or more retaliatory tariffs have been erected against it. Since there are only about 60 independent nations in the world, this Democratic estimate would seem on its face to be rather high.

But if it were reduced to any lesser number it would still be completely untrue in every other case when the Democrats have raised the same cry, as they have following the enactment of every Republican tariff bill for the past 40 years.

The records show that foreign tariff increases have been made without any respect to our tariff laws. Proof of that is found in the fact that during the four years, 1925-1928, long before the Hawley-Smoot revision was even talked about, 37 big and little nations made 87 upward revisions in their tariffs. Certainly they were not retaliating against a law which was not yet passed. These tariff increases by foreign nations were made for the same reason that we employ the tariff ourselves, to raise revenue and protect home industries.

Furthermore, these foreign tariff increases were not directed solely at the United States, but applied to all other nations. The Hawley-Smoot law itself provides against the possibility of discriminatory tariffs by declaring (Sec.) 338) that in case any country "imposes directly or indirectly . . . any unreasonable charge, exaction, regulation or limitation which is not equally enforced upon the like articles of every foreign country; or discriminates directly or indirectly against the commerce of the United States by administrative regulation of customs, tonnage or port duty . . . in such manner as to place the commerce of the United States at a disadvantage compared to the commerce of any foreign country," the President shall by proclamation specify and declare new or additional duties upon the products of any country thus discriminating against American commerce. If any American producer or manufacturer believes, therefore, that he is being retaliated against by some foreign country, it will cost him only three cents in postage to lay his claim before the President or the tariff commission. The fact that no such claim has yet been presented is proof enough that the contention of Governor Roosevelt and other Democratic critics of the Hawley-Smoot law is utterly without foundation.

The whole retaliation argument, in other words, is mere anti-tariff propaganda without any foundation upon which to rest.

ELECTRIC BILLS AND TAXES

During 1931 the electric utilities of the country paid taxes totaling $210,000,000. Fifty million of this, or 23.9 per cent, went to the Federal government. Municipalities got 36.5 per cent—$77,000,000. The counties came in for 16.3 per cent—$34,000,000. Special taxes of one kind or another accounted for 13.2 per cent, and the balance, 21,000,000 went to the state coffers.

As a consequence, the money government takes from the utility industry is a sizeable item in the monthly bill. The total amount paid for service by all domestic customers in a year is a little more than $600,000,000—about three times the utility tax bill. If the total cost of government, which now runs around $15,000,000,000 a year, were cut but five per cent, it would more than offset the total domestic electric bill.

Here is something that should be kept in mind when we talk about the utility industry. The cost of power has steadily gone down, and is now 33 per cent less than in 1913, while the general cost of living is 104 per cent higher. In that time the cost of almost everything used by utilities has inceased—labor, supplies, building expense, taxes, etc. That is a record no other industry can equal.

Had government been as efficient and as economical as the utility industry we would have no tax problem today. Those who seek to force government produced and distributed power on the country will have a hard time getting around that.

DANGEROUS DRIVING MONTHS

The fall and winter months are the most dangerous of the year for automobile driving.

Rain, sleet, fog, and ice; early darkness, haste to reach home and escape the cold, tightly closed cars and low visibility, all contribute to the hazards.

Skidding is a chief danger of cold, wet weather driving. The motorist must confront not only a visible wet or icy surface, but one hidden under a bed of fallen leaves.

Last year 1,740 persons were killed and 51,720 injured in 44,510 accidents due to skidding cars.

"The automobilist cannot carry the driving practices of the late spring and summer over to the fall and winter without running a great risk of accident," says Maxwell Halsey, traffic engineer of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. "Conditions become vastly different in the last three months of the year, and the driver must take them into consideration." Mr. Halsey lays down certain rules for the dangerous driving months, which, unless weather differs greatly this year from other years, are just ahead of California motorists.

"Have your car thoroughly inspected for any mechanical defects that may have developed during the summer.

"Be especially sure your brakes are effective; be sure your tires are in first-class condition, also your lights and your windshield wiper.

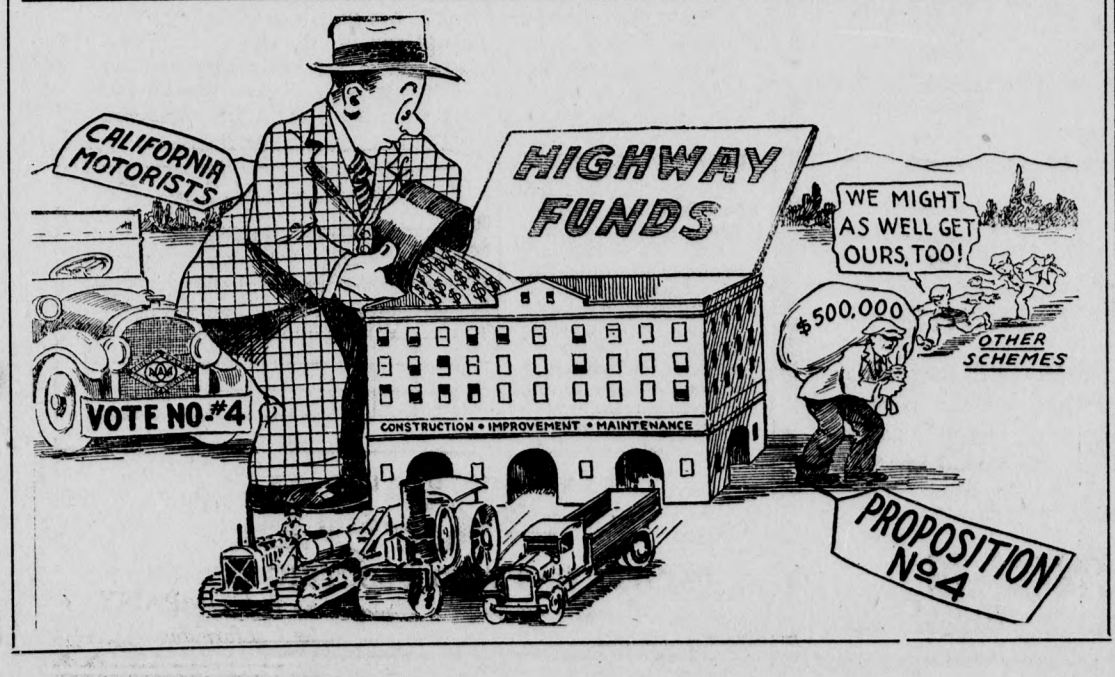

"Cut down on your summer speed.

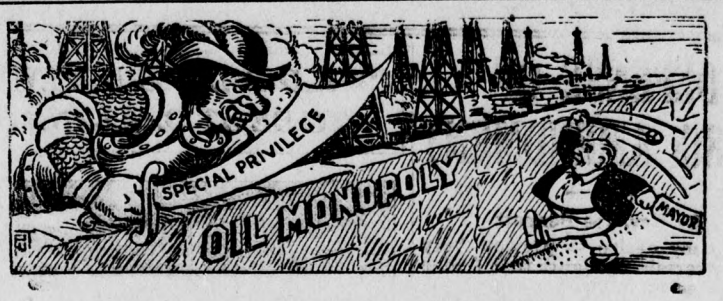

"Allow for early darkness and for decreased visibility.

"If you find your car going into a skid, do not jam on your brakes."

Under the most perfect conditions, the driver of an automobile should exercise extreme care. And when the bad days come, that care should be stretched to the utmost.

PREVENT SIDE DOOR RAIDS ON OUR HIGHWAY FUND

Snow in California

By MAYOR E. G. CONRAD of Huntington Beach

Maybe it does seem funny that the Mayor of a small town, like me, should stack up against a great big corporation, a regular David and Goliath stunt, but with the backing I've got from my people, I've just got to win or quit town. That's why I'm asking all you neighbors to help me.

It's like this . . . Huntington Beach is hog-tied by an oil corporation which has run a string of wells along its beach and is draining a big reservoir of oil which rightfully belongs to the people. And this corporation pays not one penny to the people for the privilege.

This strip of beach land, a little more than a mile long, is ruined for any other than commercial purposes, and all that the people of Huntington Beach ask is that offset wells may be drilled which will pay us a fair profit from the people's oil and materially reduce our taxes and yours and those of all the rest of the people of California.

In order to enjoy our rights, Amendment No. 11 has been placed on the ballot and we make a neighborly appeal, just as any other small town would do, that you vote YES on Eleven and aid us in protecting our rights against monopoly. That is not much to ask, even by a small-town Mayor, now is it?

I'm going to do a little predicting just on my own account, and my prediction is that there is going to be snow in California on November 8—a snow storm of Yes ballots on Amendment 11 that will bury monopoly and special privilege right up to his beefy neck. Help us, neighbors, and it's an immortal cinch.

THE FARMERS CORNER

By Ralph H. Taylor

The world-wide economic upheaval continuesto bring distressing developments which task the ingenuity and business sagacity of the American farmer and his farm-marketing organizations.

With exports to the European market already greatly reduced by depleted consumer buying power, the export situation has been further aggravated, in recent weeks, by the "Buy British" campaign inaugurated in England.

Since the British Imperial Economic conference at Ottawa, this movement has been broadened to include "Buy Empire," threatening American orange and apple markets with the supplies of South Africa and Canada.

California agriculture, due to the world-wide demand which has been developed for its products, probably has more at stake in the battle of exports than any other state in the nation. The California farmer, agriculturally at least, is a broad-guaged internationalist whose products have gone to the four corners of the globe.

The "Buy British" and "Buy Empire" slogans already have been interpreted as "Don't buy American," with American manufacturers catching the first brunt of the attack. And there is every indication that the preferences granted to the British colonies at the Ottawa conference will cut down, at least temporarily, the outlet in the British market for such California products as apples, oranges, grapefruit, raisins and prunes.

Whether the British movement will hold up for any length of time is problematical. Federal authorities at Washington have taken a preliminary step against the campaign by tactfully advising large British companies, dependent on American trade, that the "Buy Empire" movement might invite retaliation from other countries. Two other nations, in fact, are said to contemplate offensive campaigns.

It is also probable that the effects of intense nationalism on trade will be a primary subject of discussion at the World Economic conference.

Another factor which would indicate final breakdown of the "Buy Empire" move is that eventually "money talks." The British housewife, in other words, will be patriotic up to a certain point, but in the final analysis she will demand the best quality available for the least money—whether it be American or British produced.

California's advantage in the battle of exports is that it has a reputation for top quality. And on the competitive price phase of the problem, it is interesting to note this comment from the agricultural department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce: "It is apparent that California agriculture this season has produced crops of high quality with good yields at a cost ranging from 50 to 75 per cent of last year's outlay and at a very material reduction from the past five year average.

The California farmer, at this time, has every reason to be thankful, too, that his farm organizations had the foresight, several years ago, to block the move for a state trade-mark on all California farm products.

The state trade-mark, which was opposed by the California Farm Bureau federation and the agricultural legislative committee of California at a period when many groups were clamoring for its enactment, would have put this state at a tremendous disadvantage in the present situation. And the threat of just such a condition developing was the factor which actuated the states' farm groups in their fight against the California trade-mark proposal.

California farmers must make their battle against the "Buy British" and "Buy Empire" campaigns with the two greatest weapons at their command—high quality products at low prices.

BOOKS

Silver Flute, by Lida Larrimore; McRaeSmith company, 1931.

This is a sweet story for lighter moments. Life as it might be if dreams came true is pictured in this novel. There is money just when money is needed, there are children with all of children's endearing qualities and not one of childhood's faults, and there is love just when love is despaired of.

However one rather likes to forget reality as this book makes one forget it. And every reader will like Babbie, the 18-year-old heroine with the heart-shaped face and the soft brown curls, and Bruce, her artist lover, whose silver flute sang an amazingly sweet song.

IN DEFENSE OF 18th AMENDMENT

By Rev. Joe Bennett

It is my desire to preview very briefly certain thoughts that I wish to enlarge next Sunday evening at the Congregational church in an open forum fashion, allowing discussion from any angle of approach.

The trouble today is that we are suffering from a lapse in the education of the people in relation to the greatest curse that ever grew as a canker in the social life of a nation. It is not a new evil for the old Book has recorded a saying many thousands of years old, "wine is a mocker; strong drink is raging and he who is deceived thereby is not wise."

Never has civilization been so prostituted by a situation as it is today. On both sides of the subject we hear statements unjustifiable. Statements only used to rationalize impulses and prejudices rather than sane reasoning. As far as the personal desires of many parents today, it can be said that large numbers are opposed to the 18th Amendment and yet it can never be believed that any real mother or father would desire to see the country return to a situation in which liquor will be allowed with practically no restriction. Any parent who votes for the No. 1 amendment and defeats the Wright act is only one whit worse than the person who votes for No. 2, which permits the consumption of liquor in every home, purchasable at the local store, and also, whilst it professes to restrict the return of the saloon, in its place it makes any eating place a saloon and every hotel a secret place for drink and every so-called club a hell. That is one good thing about the 18th Amendment. It forbids this condition openly.

I cannot here go into many points but I will mention one or two others. I believe that the 18th Amendment has made this country a much cleaner and saner country. Never doubt, that had all Americans been truly patriotic, it could have been and still can be, much better. Yet I contend that the present benefits are immense. When I landed in New York I did not look for drink and I did not see it; neither there nor in Boston nor in Chicago. Most people can find what they look for. Here I desire to emphasize a point that appears to me to be important. Why is it that those who oppose the 18th Amendment are very often to be found also on the side of those who break the law and assist others to do likewise? Not all are thus. There are many who oppose this measure but still obey its ruling. Yet I still assert that thousands today who call this situation shocking are the very ones who have made it a shocking situation. If we are really patriotic Americans we will stop drinking and remedy this appaling state over which so many tears are shed. It is the way you would handle any other problem. If robberies increase in Campbell we do not remedy that situation by becoming robbers ourselves nor by assisting others to rob. No, we set out to remedy that situation by sane methods. We do not need to be hatchet-faced, Prince Albert-coated, unhealthy-looking individuals to teach the people that the destruction of the liquor peril is a necessity; nor do we need to teach that a stray drop of alcohol which by chance finds its way into a man's stomach will by some theological formulae send a soul to hell. But we can teach the world today that in this age of mechanism and economic pressure every unnecessary drop of alcohol within the human system can become a peril. We can also prvent our children, by our own example, and also by creating within them an inner power of resistance, from knowing the terrible possibilities of a drink-sodden personality. Have we grown people so short a memory?

The 18th Amendment has lessened crime. Of course it has not lessended the crimes due to drinking that can only happen when Americans become real Americans. The only way to lessen crime through drink will be to repeal the 18th Amendment. That means that drink will cease to be a crime, legally. But will it cease thereby to have its effects upon society. Any reasonable person must know that such argument is utterly foolish. All the repeal can do is to remove the breaking of the 18th Amendment from the stigma of law-breaking. But to return to my proposition: since the 18th Amendment the particular crimes associated with drink have decreased considerably, especially crimes against sex. These crimes will return with many others should we repeal the amendment. What are some others? The increase of deaths through automobiles. Witness the situation in England today.

The return of rioting in times of depression. Compare England of today with America. London is full of trouble and strife because of the open saloon. America is passing through her crisis without outward strife. Such a condition was not so in the earlier history of America.

Drink is a maker of second-class men and women. Why do we dread the drunken driver? Why have the railway companies rules against all drinking? Why do doctors ask in cases of illness whether the patient drinks or not? Why, why, why? can be asked on every hand. Because drink makes us less than our best.

Space does not allow me to go on with further arguments. If you do not believe me, come on Sunday and tell me so. My pulpit is no coward's castle.

"WILD BILL" CUMMINGS, RACING STAR, TO BE AT OAKLAND RACE WITH MASCOT

Nobody can say that "Wild Bill" Cummings, one of the favorites to win the 150-mile national championship auto race at the Oakland speedway on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 13, is superstitious about black cats. Here we have him with his mascot, Minnie. Cummings has taken Minnie with him to every auto race in which he has participated this year, whether it be on the Pacific or the Atlantic coast or Indianapolis.

Natural Gas heating equipment, controlled by electric button, key or automatic thermostat, does this job well and without bother.

Investigate Natural Gas heating equipment carefully. Talk with friends or neighbors whose homes are heated by Natural Gas Controlled Heat.

Then see your local gas appliance dealer or visit the local office of the P. G. and E. "WELL, WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?"

The Challenge

To the fair-minded, square-dealing, neighborly people of California, Enthroned Monopoly asks the question. The voters of the State will furnish the answer on November 8.

The Issue

At Huntington Beach is one close to the hearts of Californians. The people should own the beaches, but at Huntington Beach an international oil corporation, in the enjoyment of monopoly, straddles a strip of beach like a giant spider, sucking up and consuming the natural wealth which rightfully belongs to city and State. Amendment No. 11 on the ballot grants to Huntington Beach the same rights reserved to other coastal cities of California, and affects only that strip of beach already claimed for oil production by private monopoly.

The Effect

Of the adoption of Amendment No. 11 will be to permit Huntington Beach and the State of California to share in the profits from the people's oil now being drained for the benefit of private monopoly through the drilling of offset wells, and thus materially reduce taxes for city and State.

High School Notes

The 110-lb. and 120-lb. basketball teams of the local high school will play the same teams of Mountain View at Campbell Friday night.

A very successful student body dance was enjoyed by members of the high school Friday night.

Hallowe'en decorations furnished the proper atmosphere. The school orchestra furnished rhythmic music. Tasty punch supplied a refreshing coolness.

Committees in charge of the affair, appointed by Philip Farley, president of the student body, were: refreshment and cleanup, Melvin DeSelle, chairman, Miss Elizabeth Thomas, adviser, and Thelma Brooks, Helen Robinson, Sally Davidson, Byron Bollinger, Henry Kurasaki, Einie Berry, and Antone Labrovich; reception committee, Lois Bachman, chairman, Mrs. Marion Cox and Theodore Cutting, advisers, and Hugh Cramer, Sylvia Best, Lulu Murdock, Walter Coad, and Robert Burrows; program committee, Herbert Pryor, chairman, Miss Ruby Howes, adviser, and Lulu Caldwell, Idell Fulton, Elizabeth Mumma, and Fred Hocking; decoration committee, Richard Pyle, chairman, and Gladys Nelson and Lenora Johnson.

Members of the school orchestra who played were Olga Brydon, Betty Keesling, Clifton Crothers, Read Hall, Jimmy Nichols, Sam Manfre, and Richard Pyle.

The first program meeting of the Boys' Athletic club of the high school was held Wednesday in the grammar school auditorium. All of the boys in the school who are members were present.

The Rev. J. H. Bennett was the speaker of the day and gave an inspiring address. He talked straight from the shoulder to the boys about what they should get out of high school. He vigorously painted the necessity of becoming thinking men who can be depended upon to make sound judgments. His talk was well received.

Four local boys gave snappy performances on their accordions. They were Joe LaBarbara, Anthony Sunzeri, Salvadore Sunzeri, and Frank Rinaura.

Bob Burrows presided and, with the aid of Mr. Best, prepared the program.

Bridge Players Meet With Mrs. R. Hyde

Mrs. Ralph Hyde entertained members of her bridge club at her home on Alice avenue Thursday afternoon.

After a two-plate luncheon the guests adjourned to the card tables where they studied the science of contract bridge.

Decoratoins of green and lavender added a dainty touch to the rooms.

Those who met with Mrs. Hyde Thursday were Mesdames L. T. Lenox, Fred Husted, William Lloyd, E. E. Pomeroy, L. C. Shank, Ryan Booker, and Marion Schafer.

Miss Lois Bachman, president, presided at a meeting of the Girls' League held Tuesday. After the business meeting Miss Frances Johnston, vice president, took charge of the program.

She introduced Mrs. Sefton, Santa Clara county Camp Fire Girl executive, who explained the purpose and activities of the Camp Fire Girls and who announced the organization of a high school group in Campbell.

Accordion music was played by Joe LaBarbara, Anthony and Salvadore Sunzeri, and Frank Rinaura.

The little Misses Dorothy Penhall and Barbara Mitchell, pupils of Miss Adele Roberts, entertained with a dance. Little Jacqueline Mitchell recited.

KIWANIS NOTES
By Heck

A treat for the eyes and food and drink greeted Kiwanians Tuesday when Chairman George Burrow brought in his vinyard decorations and products. He had very tastily decorated the tables with brilliant colored leaves and grapes and cups of his choice home-made grape juice about which the boys are still talking.

Prof. Burt Rudolph of the state experiment station on Winchester road was the speaker. He stated that this is not a county institution but a coastal counties station for the study of disease and insect pests of all plants. Experiments have been made on shothole beetle, vegetable weevil, bean thrips, crickets, and strawberry mites with more or less success with each.

With diseases much of the work is for the development of resistant varieties of plants, especially in the case of strawberries. Work is also progressing on oak-root fungus and walnut blight.

Lad Celebrates Seventh Birthday With Merry Party

Wesley Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Rice, celebrated his seventh birthday recently with a party for his young friends given at his home on North Central avenue.

Games and cooling refreshments made the afternoon a merry one for the children.

Guests were Willis Hall, Dixie Keesaman, Manuel Rose, Bobby Samford, Danver Miranda, Milo Benner, and Donald Rice.

DEPRESSION PARTY IS GIVEN RECENTLY BY YVONNE STUBBE

Miss Yvonne Stubbe entertained her friends recently at an ingenious "depression party" given at her home on North First street.

The decorations carried out the theme of the party. Large pumpkins acted as lamp shades and vegetable bouquets beautified the table centerpiece and the rooms in the Stubbe home. The refreshment table was noteworthy for its newspaper tablecloth, its candleholders of catsup bottles, and the amusing array of mayonnaise jars and jelly glasses which played the role of goblets.

Guests invited were the Misses Betty Best, Sylvia Best, Jeannette Wellington, Ruth Farman, Helen Robinson, Alberta Lantz and the Messrs. Hugh Cramer, Dick Morton, Reynold Keesling, Horace Person, Bill Drew, Philip Farley, Ross Reager, and Howard Guilbert.
